To: Joseph Adler

Being pulled into a performance is why I enjoy live theater. And when that experience is in a small, intimate environment where you are witnessing the action as it occurs – where the actors have to get the moment right every time – there are no re-takes – and yet they make you feel that they don't know you're sitting there – and you don't question or doubt what's before you! That's what Gables Stage accomplishes with every single show. The highest quality actors; staging and sets that transform and have you believing that you're in a different place – that's what Joe Adler masterfully creates with every show he directs.

I have seen a multitude of plays at GablesStage, under Joe's direction – and I'm always amazed. Always educated; never disappointed and have loved every production I've seen there.

Joe, congratulations and thank you. I'm anxiously looking forward to GroveStage!
